

Real People. Real God. Real Solutions.

Recap:

In his sermon, Paul addressed the fact that we all have sin. We all have areas of weakness that we need to clean up, and we all know this to be the case. But are there areas in our lives that we are unaware of that contain sin? For all people the answer is yes, and if we know what these areas are they would cease to be blind spots. What we need to do is some serious self-evaluation coupled with some accountability and wise counsel so that we can remove sin from our lives.

1. Our key verse for this series is Psalm 139:23-24. Pray this to God: Search me, O God, and know my heart; test me and know my thoughts. See if there is any offensive way in me, and lead me in the way of everlasting.

2. Write down the weaknesses you know you have. We should always be working on these areas.

3. Paul passed out a green light card for each person to give to someone they trust. This person will help you identify your blind spots. As you have been thinking and praying about this, is there a Christian in your life who loves you that you can trust that would tell you the truth?

4. When you ask a person to help you with your blind spots, you are asking them to identify weaknesses you did not know you had. After asking and giving them a week to pray, meet with them and identify for them the weak areas that you know about, and then allow them to enlighten you on areas you are unaware.
